

Waltzing Through the U.S.

In the past ten years, there has been a proliferation of Waltz groups and Waltz events across the country in Maryland, Colorado, California, Washington, Connecticut, Pennsylvania, Massachusetts, Oregon, Kentucky, Alaska, Ohio, Missouri, and Tennessee, among others. Colorado Waltz groups include the CFOOTMAD Waltz Night, founded in 1997 by Viki Lawrence; Wednesday Waltz Etcetera at Avalon, led by Jim X. Borzym and Frank Vernon since 2006; and Kimball Edell’s Westminster Waltz Night.

Waltz groups have formed to provide opportunities for dancers at all levels to learn and enjoy the Waltz and other partner dances, in many cases to provide opportunities for Waltz bands to play, and above all, to put smiles on people’s faces! Most groups play an eclectic mix of about 50-60% Waltz, mixing Waltzes with other couple dances, like swing, Latin, tango, schottische, polka, foxtrot, and one-step. Some groups have live music; others, recorded music.

Besides local interest generating the rise of more Waltzing around the country, traveling teachers have influenced the movement through full weekends or week-long Waltz workshops. Richard Powers began his series of Waltz Weekends in 1997 at Split Tree Participatory Arts in NW Georgia, and has taught a total of 14 Waltz Weekends in this Georgia venue. He has also presented them in Palo Alto, Seattle, Portland, Toronto, Anchorage, Pasadena, Juneau, and, of course, Denver and Boulder. Joan Walton has also been a carrier of the Waltz message by teaching Vintage Dance weekends with Waltz emphasis in Denver, Seattle, Dayton, Silverton, Hartford, Toronto, Portland, and Cape May, NJ. Joan and Richard are both teachers at the annual Stanford Waltz Week and have both provided prominent leadership to the Friday Night Waltz series in the Bay Area.

The Cross-step Waltz, popular in France since the 1920s, was introduced widely at various Waltz weekends as well as Stanford Waltz Week, and later adopted and taught locally in many communities. Danced to slower tempos, it is a rather different type of Waltz, providing in many venues more variety within the Waltz genre itself, and thus necessitating fewer non-waltz dances to provide an evening of variety for the dancers. It is a Waltz to teach to beginners because it has such a high success rate on the first attempt.

Joan says “The thing I like about teaching Waltz to beginners is that once they get into the 1-2-3 timing of it, they usually love it because it is completely different from every other type of movement we do. Most other dances (Swing, Cha cha, Foxtrot, etc.) are in duple meters. Even our walking has a 1-2, 1-2 beat to it. So the Waltz movement, swaying like a boat on a gentle sea in that 1-2-3, 1-2-3 rhythm, is hypnotic, restful and relaxing, even for beginners.”

Richard observes that the mushrooming of Waltz groups has happened entirely without media buzz. Most dance booms, like Salsa and the 1990’s Lindy revival, were greatly assisted by media coverage. But not Waltz! As Richard says,” I think that’s just as well. We don’t want Waltz to become the latest fad, because then next year it would be ‘last year’s fad’, the kiss of death. Think macarena and disco. I’d rather it percolate at a simmer for a longer time.”

There is a great list of links to various Waltz groups’ web sites at <http://www.waltzelectic.org>.

The series will begin with Telegangar, a Norwegian dance that is reminiscent of the country swing in a relaxed tempo, and introduce pivots, one of the basic building blocks of Scandinavian turning dances. In the following weeks, schottis, basic polska, stigvals, hambo and Rorospols will be added. The classes will build on each other, week to week, so it is helpful to come regularly. You don’t need to come with a partner but please bring hard-soled shoes as they make this kind of dancing much easier and more fun.
