Although the Pearl St. Studio has been a great success, this 1500 sq.ft. dance floor has served only the smaller groups in the VAC community. A larger venue is also needed. While searching for a larger space and extending the FDIG business model to a larger project, Chuck Palmer stepped forward as a benefactor and offered to fund the project. A new business model was developed: A for-profit, limited liability corporation Boulder Dance, LLC, was established to purchase the building at 6185 Arapahoe with Chuck initially owning 99% and VAC 1%. VAC would lease from Boulder Dance about 1/3 of the building and operate a large ballroom (5,000 sq.ft.) and catering kitchen, a medium-size (2,000 sq.ft.) and a small-size dance studio (1000sq.ft.). VAC and Chuck agreed that Boulder Dance, LLC would purchase the building and pay for constructing the dance spaces while VAC would operate the facility, use the income from operations to buy ownership in Boulder Dance, LLC from Chuck and eventually become the sole owner of Boulder Dance, LLC and the building. An estimated 15,000 volunteer hours have gone into establishing this center for the Boulder dance community since the effort began eight years ago. The inaugural dance at the Avalon was held in October of 2006 with 200+ contra dancers enjoying the new, cushioned dance floor to the music of the Wild Asparagus band. The Avalon ballroom soon became a popular venue for many events and last year Hermine Higgins came on board as the manager of the ballroom. Development of the facilities has been delayed by permit and zoning issues with the County, but there are now signs they will be soon resolved. In April of this year Chuck also assumed control of the ballroom operations for the VAC.

With the development of the Pearl St. Studio and Avalon, Boulder is on its way to join several other cities where groups bound together by a common interest have established homes for their activities. Such community efforts date back more than a hundred years, and many people still enjoy the results of these efforts today. The enduring life of every one of these institutions can be credited to dedication of the people who started it and of the following generations to keep it going. A common thread among these enduring institutions is a democratic system where new people enter the governing boards as the older ones leave in a carefully structured way that ensures the continuity of the organizations and their visions. Organizations without such structure often don't last beyond the life of the founders and fall apart due to conflicting interests among people and changes in individual people's lives such as money, marriages, divorces and deaths. Boulder has had its share of these problems in the past. Let us hope that the two projects illustrated in boulderdancespace.com will endure past the life of their founders and benefit future dancers in Boulder.

If you're interested in being more involved developing a vision for the future in this community, please brainstorm with other dance friends or talk to people on the VAC Board. Contact Ingvar at sodaling@norsk.us about your ideas and vision for the Pearl Street Studio.

DO YOU ENJOY DANCING IN BOULDER?

DO YOU KNOW WHY
IT IS SUCH
HEALTHY COMMUNITY?

CHECK OUT - - Boulderdancespace.com

When you reach this web site you see the picture of a thriving dance community in and around Boulder. But this community has traveled a tortuous road in creating the facilities needed for its activities, beginning with the first serious attempt in the early '70s by Tink (now Alex) Wilson and friends to build a dance building on North Broadway. A lot was purchased by a friend, and building materials were collected by volunteers. Then people's lives changed, the lot reverted back to the previous owner and the construction materials were sold. Several years later another friend of the dance community added an oversized rec. room to her house and many volunteers helped make this into "The Barn" on Sumac which became the home for many dance groups until it was sold in the early '90s. Other similar projects came and went over the past 30 years. In 1989 The Village Arts Coalition (VAC) was established and in 1991 signed a lease for a run-down ballet studio at 2126 Pearl. Volunteers fixed it up. It became the Pearl Street Studio and VAC started renting the space to dance groups. When the lease expired in 1998 the owner wanted to sell the building, putting at risk even this modest beginning. With the support of the VAC, the Folk Dancers Investor Group (FDIG) was formed, raised nearly a quarter million dollars from 18 individuals, BIFD and VAC, and purchased the building. FDIG is run by a three-member board (Managers). After years of heavy use, the floor was refinished and major repairs were made at the Studio this spring. The managers are now approaching retirement age and hope that new people will step forward to carry the torch of ensuring the future of dance spaces in Boulder like the Pearl Street Studio. PERFECT your PIVOT, HONE your HAMBO, SHARPEN your SCHOTTIS !!

Starting September 15, Monday Night Scandinavian Dancing will offer a series of classes focusing on basic Scandinavian dance skills and accessible, fun dances. Learn the secrets of maintaining your own balance while connecting with your partner and turning effortlessly. The best part is, Scandinavian dance skills transfer to most other couple dance forms, so you will not only be learning new dances, you will be enhancing the ones you already know!

We will begin with Telegangar, a Norwegian walking dance that is reminiscent of country swing in a relaxed tempo, and introduce pivots, one of the basic building blocks of Scandinavian turning dances. Pivots are also very useful in waltz and other couple dances. In the following weeks we will add schottis, basic Swedish polska, stigvals, hambo and Rørospols. The classes will build on each other, week to week, so it is important to come regularly

Monday Night Scandinavian Dancing is held at the Pearl Street Studio, 2126 Pearl St., in Boulder. Teaching is from 7:30 - 8:30, followed by open dancing. We usually have live music, on fiddle, nyckelharpa and button accordion. You don't need to bring a partner. Hard-soled shoes are required because they allow one to pivot smoothly on the floor. Cost is $5 per evening. For more information contact Nancy at nellinghaus@juno.com or 303-499-7262.

Women Learning to Lead Waltz. Ladies! It’s fun to learn to lead, and it makes you a better follower as well. Plus, if you know how to lead, you can dance when there is a gender imbalance at a particular dance. This fun class is for women who know how to waltz and want to learn to lead. It is also a fun class for men who are willing to be followers, which has the added benefit of becoming a better leader, by ‘experiencing the other part’. Women who want to come just to be followers are also welcome. In all my classes we learn in a supportive atmosphere, laugh a lot, and have plenty of time to practice. Classes are Saturdays, Sept. 17 and Oct. 4, at the Pearl Street Studio, 2126 Pearl Street, in Boulder, 3 -5 PM, $10 at the door, no partner needed. No fragrances please, as some of us are allergic. Maroon Bells Morris dances Cotswold and the occasional longsword dances. It is the longest-standing of the three and you’ve probably seen us in our whites and ribbons somewhere in the state. Practice is on Wednesdays 7:30-9:30 p.m. in Northglenn.

Breathless in Berthoud is a Border Morris team, the border referring to the one between England and Wales. If you’ve seen dancers in colorful tatty coats and hats, you’ve watched Border. Practice is on Thursdays from 7:30 to 9 p.m. in Berthoud.

The Tommyknockers were started in 2002 by children of adults on the Maroon Bells Morris team and have since expanded to any interested kids. No description of the kit is needed - you recognize them by their age. Practice is on an irregular basis in Louisville, so call Nancy at 303-665-9413 for current details.
