

VAC Interesting News

Modern Scottish Country Dancing (SCD) is a form of the country dancing popular in England and Scotland in the 18th century. It usually involves groups of six to ten people in a mixed set (most of the time) with dancers tracing progressive patterns according to a predetermined choreography, to the music of reels, jigs and strathspeys played on the fiddle, accordion, flute and piano. Reels and jigs are fast time dances and strathspeys are slow dances. It is a very social form of dancing, not only because you get to dance with seven or so people at once instead of just with one partner but smiles and eye contact are almost mandatory with a lot of opportunity for flirting. SCD should not be confused with Scottish Highland Dance, which today is mainly being danced in competition.

While there are about a dozen basic figures which are used in most of the dances (many dances have their own quirks which make them unique and fun to dance), there are over 7000 different dances catalogued. Many of these dances are derived from old manuscripts and printed dance collections. There are also a lot of dances that have been written in the fairly recent past. This combination of the traditional and the modern are part of the attraction of Scottish Country Dancing. Even though there are so many dances, you don't have to learn them by heart because the crib notes for balls and dances are published well before the events.

SCD groups are found world wide with the Royal Scottish Country Dance Society (RSCDS) main office located in Edinburgh, Scotland. The RSCDS publishes new dances every month, and crib notes and suggestions for dance tunes, are sent to members of the Society. Therefore, you can go anywhere in the world and be able to dance with the local group.

Our local group, Scottish Country Dancers of Colorado, meets every month for a dance and once a year we hold a formal ball. These events are held in facilities along the front-range with the locations changing monthly between Ft. Collins, Denver and Colorado Springs. Women usually wear skirts and blouses and men, if they have one, will wear a kilt to the dances. Kilts are not required and many men will come in slacks. Refreshments are served during a break in the dancing, because you can really work up an appetite.

Classes are held in Ft. Collins, Boulder, Denver, Parker, and Colorado Springs which teach all levels of SCD. A partner is not required, but soft soled shoes and loose clothing is suggested for your comfort, and all ages are welcome. Contact Bob Burnham (303-431-6870) for more information.

Colorado Friends of Cajun-Zydeco Music and Dance presents: Leroy Thomas and the Zydeco Roadrunners

Sunday, November 30, 2008
Mercury Café 2199 California Denver, CO, Cost: $15.00 non-members, $12.00 members www.cfcz.org

The non-profit Colorado Friends of Cajun-Zydeco Music and Dance, whose mission is to bring Louisiana French culture, music and dance to the Front Range, will present a special Thanksgiving dance. Through endless hours of hard work, an insane touring schedule and building a loyal, committed fan base, Leroy Thomas has established himself as one of zydeco's premier artists. He stands tall in an esteemed class that includes peers Geno Delafose, Step Rideau and T-Broussard. Originally from Elton, Louisiana, the Stetson-hatted Creole cowboy was weaned on zydeco with various family bands and an extended clan that all played zydeco. Interestingly enough it's only been a decade since Thomas stepped out of his father's shadow, Leo 'The Bull' Thomas, and began fronting with his own formidable band, the aptly named Zydeco Roadrunners. During that time, he has not only kept an active tour schedule but has released several critically acclaimed albums. He's been recognized by The New Yorker Magazine: "Thomas keeps his shows lively. He's known for spinning his accordion in the air and for his sense of humor." For more information or set up an interview, contact Dan Willging, 303-745-9577, dwillging@mho.net, or Hugh Robertson, 303-587-4021.

Waltz Class/Practice Sessions with Barbara Roach are held 2 or 3 Sundays a month, 2 - 4:30 PM, at the Pearl Street Studio, Boulder. No partner needed, drop-in classes, $7 at the door. Classes are taught at an intermediate to advanced level, rotary and cross-step waltz, in a fun and supportive atmosphere. We cover waltz steps as well as leading and following and ways to become better dancers. I ask for no fragrances please as some of us are allergic. This class goes for about 2 hours so we have lots of time to practice. Dates are Nov 2, 16, 23 & Dec 7. For more information contact Barbara Roach, broach3@juno.com or 303-442-0677.

Women Learning to Lead Waltz. Ladies! It's fun to learn to lead, and it makes you a better follower as well. Plus, if you know how to lead, you can dance when there is a gender imbalance at a particular dance. This fun class is for women who know how to waltz and want to learn to lead. It is also a fun class for men who are willing to be followers, which has the added benefit of becoming a better leader, by 'experiencing the other part'. Women who want to come just to be followers are also welcome. In all my classes we learn in a supportive atmosphere, laugh a lot, and have plenty of time to practice. Classes are Saturdays at the Pearl Street Studio, 2126 Pearl Street, in Boulder, 3 - 5 PM, $10 at the door, no partner needed. No fragrances please, as some of us are allergic. For exact dates & information, contact Barbara at broach3@juno.com or 303-442-0677.

Maroon Bells Morris dances Cotswold and the occasional longsword dances. It is the longest-standing of the three and you've probably seen us in our whites and ribbons somewhere in the state. Practice is on Wednesdays 7:30-9:30 p.m. in Northglenn.

Breathless in Berthoud is a Border Morris team, the border referring to the one between England and Wales. If you've seen dancers in colorful tatty coats and hats, you've watched Border. Practice is on Thursdays from 7:30 to 9 p.m. in Berthoud.

The Tommyknockers were started in 2002 by children of adults on the Maroon Bells Morris team and have since expanded to any interested kids. No description of the kit is needed - you recognize them by their age. Practice is on an irregular basis in Louisville, so call Nancy at 303-665-9413 for current details. Questions and requests for more information should be directed to Robin at 303-651-0909 or squire@maroonbellsmorris.org. Please also visit: www.maroonbellsmorris.org
