Village Arts Coalition presents ~ 2013 International Festival

Boulder's Best Street Dance!

June 28-30

The Village Arts Coalition presents the 24th annual Boulder International Festival, Friday, June 28th through Sunday, June 30th in front of the courthouse on the Boulder Mall.

A public square dance kicks off the festival on Friday evening from 6:30 to 8:30 led by Scootbacks Square Dance Club under the big tent on the Pearl Street Mall. The evening offers a lively program of square and round dances for couples and singles accompanied by a live caller.

On Saturday from 10:30 am to 8:30 pm and on Sunday from 10 am-6 pm the festival offers a series of 30 minute performances demonstrating dance and music from cultures around the world. Showcasing their colorful, national costumes and exotic music, dancers enjoy sharing the musical traditions they have learned and practiced.

Over the years, international dance instructors have been brought to Boulder for workshops teaching dances and traditions of their cultures. The workshops are sponsored by VAC member groups specializing in music and dance of a specific country, or by international dancing in general. The Village Arts Coalition was created by Boulder International Folk Dancers to support these dance groups and to encourage public interest in the folk arts.

Dancing includes styles and authentic costumes from Africa, England, Europe, Ireland, Latin America, the Middle East, Scotland, China, and the U.S. Music highlights include the Scandinavian Spelemandslag of young fiddlers, and a group of Scottish bagpipers who open the Sunday morning program with a march down the mall. The festival emphasizes participation, and throughout the weekend there are opportunities for beginners to learn easy folk dances. Saturday evening the festival invites the public to dance European folk dances with a live band (please check the International Festival page at www.villageartscoalition.org in June for information about the band - as well as the complete schedule of performances).

The International Festival provides an opportunity for the public to become acquainted with the full range of activities that live under the Village Arts Coalition umbrella, including the Avalon and all the VAC member groups. The festival gives our member groups a chance to showcase their skills, while reaching out to potential new fans and participants.

In addition to the music and dancing the festival features an International Marketplace of about 20 vendors of imported arts and crafts. Vendors in the festival this year include Alpaca Connection, Circle of Hands Uganda, Henna India Body Art, Cheri's Boutique, and Crystal D'llusions.

Our thanks go out to Hermine Higgins who expertly managed the festival for the past three years and left behind incredibly organized instructions for moving forward with this outstanding summer event. Our new manager Jim Schwartzkopff comes to us with twenty-four years of experience with A Taste of Colorado and nearly a decade of managing outdoor events, including Denver's Theatre in the Park, Su Teatro, and Cinco De Mayo Celebration.

Each year the festival succeeds because of a dedicated group of volunteers who help with various tasks over the weekend. Volunteers set up and take down the event site, keep the site tidy, staff the VAC booth, help the mall traffic feel welcome under the tent, and the ever-important passing of the fish bowl! To see the full schedule of volunteer shifts and learn more about the specific tasks, click the volunteer tab on the International Festival webpage, then call Jim at 303-329-6242 to sign up! The commitment is for a little bit of training before your first shift, working - but also being part of the festival, and a party Sunday evening!

The festival has the support of the Daily Camera and Eldorado Artesian Springs and is funded in part by a grant from the Boulder

Human Relations Commission. Boulder International Festival has decades-long relationships with Boulder County, the City of Boulder, and Downtown Boulder Inc. This year we reach out to Boulder businesses to support the festival as well, by offering sponsorships to businesses that share our values of international friendship and love of the world's cultures as experienced through their community celebrations, music, and dance; an emphasis on participating, especially when it comes to dancing; and, of course, international travel and cuisine. To get your company's banner in the tent - call Jim 303-329-6242!

City of Boulder parking garages are free on Saturday and Sunday!

For information about volunteering and sponsorships, the complete line-up of performers, and the full list of vendors, check out the International Festival page at the Village Arts Coalition website www.villageartscoalition.org.
