ALEX “TINK” WILSON

JULY 28, 1929 - MAY 13, 2012

If you happened to tune in to our local radio station, KGNU in the mid 80s you might have heard Alex Wilson's "Walkabout," the series of listening tours of folk music from Scandinavia through the Balkans. Alex was not only the preeminent teacher of international folk dancing in Boulder for 40 years, but reached out to the rest of the Boulder community with dance, song and story.

His family, recognizing his contribution to Boulder and the support he received from his many friends in the Boulder dance community, has decided to use the assets from his estate to establish the “Alex “Tink” Wilson Legacy Fund”. This fund is managed by BIFD and operated by a committee responsible for distributing about $5,000 every year for the support of folklife related projects in Boulder and the surrounding area. Please check out the funding opportunity announcement on page 8 of this newsletter.

RODNEY “ROD” FREHLICH

AUGUST 7, 1952 – MAY 4, 2012

Rod was always ready to step up to any task. He served on the VAC Board for many years and was on its Long-Range Planning Committee working through the many problems with finding a “home” for the VAC community, which eventually resulted in the Avalon. His superior scientist's mind and determination made him truly invaluable in the building committee's exhaustive work evaluating various models for the VAC's new “home”.

He was an initial investor in the Folk Dancers Investor Group (FDIG) and an ardent supporter of the work in establishing the Pearl Street Studio as an interim “home” for the dance community. His many hours of volunteer work at the “Studio” helped ensure the success of this venture. When it became clear that his brain cancer was going to cut his life short, he donated his entire financial holding in the FDIG to the BIFD dance community.
